LOCATION

Being located on the corner of Mowbray Road and Ryhope Road in Ashbrooke, the subject property is ideally located at less than 0.5 miles from Sunderland city centre. The property is situated within the Ashbrooke Conservation Area which is characterized by surrounding traditional Victorian terraced housing, churches, temples and historic parks.

The property is accessible by local public transport links with regular bus routes servicing Ryhope Road and also via rail with Park Lane Bus and Metro Interchange approximately 0.4 miles away. The property is accessible by road links and benefits from being 0.1 mile from A1231 which is a main through road Sunderland City Centre and provides direct access to the A690 and A19.

DESCRIPTION

The subject property comprises a Grade II listed building which was originally built in 1889. Being used for educational purposes as a college from 1922 and a university building from 1975, the property finally ended as a building for Sunderland high School until its closure in 2016. The accommodation is arranged over three floors and is highly decorative both internally and externally and currently provides a spectacular reception area and several ornate offices / meeting rooms on the ground floor with the first and second floors containing the former classrooms.

PLANNING APPLICATION

The property benefits from planning permission for the change of use from a school to a hotel. This includes a restaurant and bar to the ground floor, 7 en-suite guest rooms on the first floor with the managers accommodation sited on the second floor.

Further information is available using Sunderland City Council's Planning Portal using reference number: 18/01454/FUL
